The Super Bowl is the largest single sport-betting event in Canada with thousands of bets expected to be placed when the New England Patriots and Philadelphia Eagles kick off on Sunday, February 4.

Patriots quarterback Tom Brady is the favourite to win MVP at Super Bowl LII, while Eagles quarterback Nick Foles is the second choice with just over 3 to 1 odds.

To win the $1 Million Super Pool, players have to correctly pick all 25 Super Bowl LII related outcomes on their $5 pool card. In the event no one selects all 25 outcomes correctly, players with the most correct picks will win or share a jackpot generated by pool sales.

The betting doesn't stop there. PlayNow.com is offering novelty bets on everything from what colour Gatorade will be poured on the winning coach, how many times Donald Trump will tweet during the game and whether any players will kneel during the national anthem.

Bettors can even wager on whether there will be a wardrobe malfunction and which artist will make an appearance with Justin Timberlake during the halftime show. For example, a $20 bet on Janet Jackson will return $88.

Last year, PlayNow.com football fans wagered more than $600K on Super Bowl LI through more than 37,000 bets. Be sure to check PlayNow.com to see which prop or
